East Cobb Cat Lover Co-Manages Cat Show

By Erica Rountree

Dog person or cat person: We're usually born into one camp or the other. East Cobb resident Joanne Hardeman considered herself a dog person for much of her adult life. Then she got a cat.

Three years later, she's co-manager of the third largest cat show in the United States, also known as the Cotton States Cat Club 73rd Annual Cat Show, which takes place this year Nov. 5-6 at Gwinnett Center in Duluth.

In 2009, when her co-manager and friend Connie Wardlaw asked Hardeman to take care of a kitten while she was out of town, Hardeman was skeptical. Wardlaw had been showing cats for more than 30 years.

"I told her I'd never taken care of an inside cat before," Hardeman said. "The only contact I'd had with cats were the ones that roamed the farm where I grew up. She reassured me that she'd bring everything I needed and walk me through it. That kitten never left my house."

Hardeman now owns six exotic cats and kittens, some of which are now or will be show cats. The Cotton States Cat Show features Cat Fanciers' Association registered breeds as well as household pets. Judges evaluate more than 300 cats according to CFA standards such as condition of coat, body structure and the color and shape of eyes. The show attracts exhibitors from all over the U.S. and even Europe, plus more than 1,000 spectators.

"This is one of the top cat shows in the United States," Hardeman said. "We're known for our elaborate ring decoration, and we always make the show a big celebration. Of course, we're Southerners. That's what we do."

This year's theme is "Purrfect Holidays," which means the rings will be decorated for New Year's Eve through Christmas and every holiday in between. Rescue organizations will be present for attendees hoping to adopt a cat of their own.

"It's a great opportunity to see really beautiful cats and get to know different breeds," said Hardeman. "The more I learn about the breeds, the more I appreciate the good qualities of each one."

What do I do if my dog or cat bites someone?

You will be required to make a decision about the future of your pet. Confinement is a must under the Cobb County Animal Control Ordinance. This quarantine/confinement is necessary for 10 days. You can choose to quarantine the animal at your vet or the Cobb County Animal Control Shelter. If you do not choose to keep the animal because of the bite, you can request that the animal be put to sleep and tested for rabies. Either of these options are not pleasant, but because of the potential for a rabies exposure and/or liability on your part you must make the decision that is best for your situation. Animal Control does not normally adopt out animals that have bitten or scratched, but every situation is considered individually.

Backyard Chickens Alliance Presents Special Showing of Mad City Chickens

▲ Joseph Pond with his pet chicken, Zelda

Witness if you will Gallus Domesticus...the Backyard Chicken. A mere few pounds of feather, bone, and muscle; a creature regarded by many as a rather humorous, though not so intelligent agent of food production. And yet make note of a most singular phenomenon now taking shape across suburb and city. From backyard eggs to the family's new favorite pet, the urban chicken is forging a fresh place in the pecking order of human importance." --Mad City Chickens

The Backyard Chickens Alliance of Cobb County will present a viewing of the 2009 documentary, Mad City Chickens, on November 7, at 7PM at Sacred Tapestry UMC, 3000 Johnson Ferry Road, Marietta/East Cobb. The admission is free with donations accepted. Concessions will be available. There will be a Question and Answer session afterwards. Mad City Chickens tells the story of Backyard Chickens in Madison, Wisconsin. Mad City Chickens is a sometimes serious, sometimes whimsical look at the people who keep urban chickens in their backyards. From chicken experts and authors to a rescued landfill hen or an inexperienced family that decides to take the poultry plunge—and even a mad professor and giant hen taking to the streets—it's a humorous and heartfelt trip through the world of backyard chickendom. Mad City Chickens deftly weaves multiple stories and contextual issues on city chickens and their keepers in a non-linear fashion that one rarely sees in a documentary. From leading experts to urban newbies, experience the humor and heart of what's fast becoming an international backyard chicken movement.

East Cobb resident, Joseph Pond, created the Backyard Chickens Alliance of Cobb County to bring together like minded people to raise awareness about Backyard Chickens and to change the laws in Cobb County that currently prevent citizens from owning chickens as pets. Their goal is to change the zoning ordinance that essentially outlaws Backyard Chickens in Cobb County by gaining community support and working with the Cobb County Board of Commissioners. Pets and Owners Love Hot Dogs Cool Cats

▲ Karon Carpentieri, owner of Hot Dogs Cool Cats

For many of us, pets are family. We love them, and we want what is best for them. After adopting her Yorkshire Terrier, Bentley and two other dogs, Lexie and Milo, Karon Carpentieri, owner of Hot Dogs Cool Cats, became someone who loves to pamper her pets. Before opening Hot Dogs Cool Cats, Carpentieri traveled extensively for her corporate job until she realized she needed a life change. She opened her pet boutique and grooming spa in Paper Mill Village in East Cobb because she knew there were many pet lovers in this area, and she saw a need for quality pet services.

The boutique at Hot Dogs Cool Cats offers a selection of carefully researched grain-free dog and cat food with the healthiest ingredients. They also carry unique collars and harnesses, fun outfits and also gifts for humans who love their pets. Carpentieri's artwork decorates the funky and colorful showroom, and her personal furry companions contribute to the welcoming atmosphere.

The shop recently expanded to accommodate their growing grooming spa and services. Hot Dogs Cool Cats is a "no muzzle" facility, and the groomers work with each dog to alleviate any fears from past treatments. They also look at the dog's fur and skin condition to customize which type of shampoo will best achieve a healthier coat and be most soothing for their skin.

"Our pet owners tell us their dogs are eager to come through our doors because they know they will be well treated here," says Carpentieri. "Our goal is to make this a positive experience for everyone."

The boutique also sends out a monthly newsletter to its customers and hosts pet-focused events like Yappy Hours and holiday portraits.

Hot Dogs Cool Cats now provides obedience training classes onsite and continues to offer Brushing 101 classes and Microchip clinics.

Stop by Hot Dogs Cool Cats at 255 Village Parkway, Suite 720, Marietta, 30067 in the Paper Mill Village. To schedule an appointment, call 770-858-1000. Email Karon at karon@hotdogscoolcats.net or visit www.hotdogscoolcats.net to learn more about their pet pampering services and products.
